

To whom it may concern,

I had a challenging decking project for a hillside home that required someone who is an expert in construction. Francesco came highly recommended by the company I purchased the decking materials from. He is not only meticulous in his craftsmanship, but he also helped guide me through the whole process. I could not be happier about my deck and will definitely work with Francesco again for any future project.

Regards,
Joe Liang